

Our new Yearbook is detailed, clear and up-to-date in its presentation of facts, figures and analyses of this year's most important topics.

Do you recall?

The CEP –News report on

... the apparently highly deficient parcel business of Deutsche Post in Germany?

... Poste Italiane achieving a profit again for the first time in 50 years?

... Japan's first private letter service?

... FedEx and it's job cuts?

... how La Poste's participation in the Greek post ELTA fell through?

... the emergency plan demanded by Ireland's Communications Minister Ahern in order to get An Post out of the red?

The European CEP market condensed on over 200 pages: our up-to-date reference book provides information on all European markets and presents a chronology of current affairs.

Compiled for the first time, the Yearbook contains all published CEP News items. The index facilitates the search for information from many different areas.

The information was compiled from the database created by MRU, which has carried out systematic evaluation of particulars from sources throughout the world ever since 1995 and, in the form of the CEP News, provides the CEP industry with one of the most up-to-date and competent information services.

The president of one leading postal union said: "The CEP News is without doubt one of the best available sources of information on the European CEP market".

His opinion is supported by the chairman of a leading company: "The CEP News is the best trade report I have ever come across".

The CEP News 2003 Yearbook is a unique documentation of important trends on the express and postal markets.
